SAN JACINTO INTO RUBBISH HEAP

The San Jacinto postoffice after the earthquake.

The earthquake that visited southern California on April 21 did considerable damage, though no lives were lost. The postoffice at San Jacinto was reduced to a ruin. San Jacinto suffered heaviest in the shock, very few of the buildings in the town escaping.

UNION PACIFIC CITY SECOND CHILD IN THE TRAFFIC OFFICE IS CLOSED
FURGESON FAMILY IS DEAD

The Union Pacific city traffic office was closed this morning on instructions received by wire from D. S. Spencer, general passenger agent at Salt Lake. W. H. Chevers, general agent of the company, received an order to close the Ogden city office and to cancel all western, California, and the Pacific northwest bookings for summer excursion rates. This double order was issued on account of the government control of the railroad lines.

The Denver & Rio Grande up-town office had not been closed at time of going to press today, but an order was expected to come at any time to close it, as the order will become general on all roads, according to the opinion of railroad officials.

What effect the order closing the Union Pacific office will have on the assignment of Paul L. Beemer, city passenger and ticket agent, and R. R. Goodman, assistant city passenger and ticket agent, could not be even guessed today, as no intimation is given whether they will be assigned to other departmental work or relieved from the service during the war. It is not believed that either of them will be dropped from the company pay roll, as they are known as very efficient men in their line. They will probably be assigned to work in one of the offices in the operating department.

The freight business will be handled at the Union depot freight office by F. E. Nichols, who is joint agent for all the steam roads entering Ogden.

JED M'KAY CASE HAS BEEN POSTPONED

Jed McKay, a young rancher of Huntsville, entered a plea of "not guilty" in the municipal court this morning when arraigned on a charge of fishing out of season. McKay was arrested by Deputy Fish and Games Warden Mike Doyle who alleges that McKay was fishing on April 28 in the north fork of the Ogden river.

McKay stated that he was not ready to have his trial this morning as he had a witness to summon. He said that he would have been ready for trial, but he noticed that Game Warden Doyle had a witness with him and he believed it would be well to have a witness to offset a preponderance of testimony against him. The case was continued until May 15th for trial.

PEOPLE ARRESTED

SALT LAKE, May 9.—Word received yesterday from Rupert, Idaho, tells of the arrest of the most prominent resident of that city on conspiracy charges.

The complainant in the case is E. R. Dampier of Rupert, one of the leading lawyers in that part of Idaho, and also active politically. He charges that the defendants in the case conspired to commit the crimes of battery, false imprisonment and criminal libel, he being the object of their activity.

Differences between Dampier and a number of the residents of Rupert are said to have resulted because of charges which the attorney made against a woman employee of the post-office. The attorney, it is understood, charged the woman with tampering with his mail. Later the woman charged Dampier with using insulting language to her, and he was found guilty and fined in the probate court. Later, it is further understood, partisans of the young woman openly made threats to tar and feather the attorney.

The men arrested include Hiram Thompson, sheriff of Minidoka county, who was placed under arrest by the coroner of the county, Dr. Killen of Rupert. The other defendants were arrested by Constable Enders of Rupert. They are: E. E. Fisher, F. N. Victor, J. H. Plank, William Gunn, Sr., William Lyman, Jr., A. L. Craig, J. O. Johannessen, J. L. McCurry, H. E. Tabb and A. F. Rowley. William Lyman, Sr., is mayor of Rupert.

TWO WOMEN KILLED IN GREAT TORNADO

CHICAGO, May 9.—A tornado, marked here and there by torrential rains, did heavy damage in central Illinois today.

Miles of railway track were made impassable by debris carried by the wind or by houses and out-buildings were unroofed, livestock killed and gardens inundated. At Franklin, Morgan county, Mrs. Anna Hart and her granddaughter were reported killed, by a falling roof. Mrs. E. B. Donner and her son were injured at Lakewood, near Decatur, when their home was destroyed. Near Pana an accommodation train ran into a washout and overturned but none were injured.

Asquith Denies Censure.

LONDON, May 9.—In the house of commons today, former Premier Asquith denied that his motion respecting the Maurice affair was designed to obtain a vote of censure of the government, saying it was absurd to describe it as such. Should he find it his duty to censure the government, he said, he hoped that he would have the courage to do so in direct and unequivocal form.

CHARLES STIELOW
RELEASED FROM PENITENTIARY

After having faced electrocution four times, Charles Stielow was released from a New York prison today. This is a great legal victory for Stuart M. Kohn, an Ogden boy who has been practicing law in New York.

The Stielow case is one of the most sensational in the history of the criminal law. The accused man was about to be put to death when his plea for aid gained the attention of Stuart M. Kohn, who since has been untiring in his efforts to save the man.

WORKING RESERVE OF BOYS NOW READY FOR SERVICE

The Boys' Working reserve in Weber county is organized and ready to respond on a day's notice, according to J. W. Watson, department of agriculture agent, who has charge of the organization and management of this reserve in Utah.

Mr. Watson was in Ogden this morning conferring with W. P. Thomas, county farm agent. He said there had been no need thus far to call the boys out, but that they were ready and could be summoned for work on a day's notice. It is expected no necessity will arise before the fruit harvest for their support, unless the beets take a sudden spurt through the impulse of continued rainy weather.

MOUND FORT D CLASS
SEES PACKING PLANT

The fifty members of the D class of the Mound Fort Junior high school were taken through the plant of the Ogden Packing and Provision company this morning as a part of a practical course in school work. They were also taken through the Union Stock yards and the details of the stock buying, selling and butchering industry explained to them. The students were under the direction of Prof. Myron Wade, teacher of history.

The object of the trip through the industrial concerns was to teach them a practical lesson in history and geography, it being believed that seeing the methods pursued in marketing and preparing meat for consumption would serve as a good practical lesson and would help them to remember what they are learning in books.

Both the boys and the girls of the class found the trip most interesting, but when they came to the killing section of the packing plant the girls did not desire to tarry long. Some of the boys also decided that they would prefer to move on to some other section, though they were all keenly interested in learning the process.

CASH BAIL FORFEITED
IN THE MITCHELL
VAGRANCY

A. B. Mitchell forfeited his bail of $50 when his case was called in the municipal court this morning and he failed to appear. He was arrested several days ago and charged with vagrancy. When arraigned in police court, he entered a plea of "not guilty." The complaint had charged him with being an idle and dissolute person and the police officers claimed that they had arrested him at a private house where he was found in a compromising situation.

Chief of Police Browning, in asking the court for a continuance until this morning, stated that the case was a very aggravated one and involved the breaking up of a home where there were several children. Mitchell put up $50 cash bail which was declared forfeited.

AIRCRAFT IS TO BE INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON, May 9.—While the department of justice was waiting today its investigation of aircraft production, Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the senate military committee, opened the way for his committee investigation by offering a resolution authorizing it. The resolution will be taken up tomorrow.

Sharp criticism of delay in production was heard again in the senate, Senator Thomas of Colorado, a Democratic member of the military committee, declaring there was evidence that monopoly of production had been planned.

"Close control of airplane production is had," Senator Thomas asserted, "through the organization known as the Manufacturers' Aircraft association, which controls basic aircraft patents and restricted production under an agreement." The association, he regretted, had the approval of the aviation authorities and the attorney-general.

Patent grants, Senator Thomas indicated, is one of the features of the aviation investigation the committee will investigate.

Sensor Thomas told the senate he deplored failure of the government to purchase or commandeer the airplane patents, controlled principally, he said, by the Curtiss, Wright, Burgess and Wright-Martin interests. Through the Manufacturers' Aircraft association, he said, patentees of improvements cannot produce aircraft containing their improvements without obtaining licenses from the controlling interests.

"Did the association intend to monopolize production and prevent the government from having others make its airplanes?" Senator King of Utah asked.

"Not in express terms but my understanding of the agreement is that it operates that way," Senator Thomas replied.

"I cannot escape the conviction but that it was designed for that purpose."

Sensor King said he understood Howard Coffin, former head of the aircraft production board, was an honorary member of the association.

In his opinion the association creates "a gigantic monopoly," Senator Thomas said.

"But for the emergency due to the war," he said, "this contract never would have passed the scrutiny of the department of justice."

"Profiteering without a limit, he asserted, is possible under the arrangement."

"This agreement is undemocratic and un-American," said Senator Thomas, "and should be exposed without further delay."

GENERAL LYON
PRAISES BRIGADECredit for His Promotion Due to Officers and Fine Work of Men.

CAMP KEARNY, Cal., May 9.—"The credit for my appointment as major general belongs to the officers of this brigade, especially the senior officers," said Brigadier General LeRoy S. Lyon, commanding the 65th artillery brigade, when informed recently that he had been confirmed as a major general. "I never expected to be made a major general in the course of this war. When I was commissioned a brigadier general I was advanced ahead of several hundred other colonels and I sort of figured that they would even up with me for that advancement by holding me back from the major generalcy."

"That I have been given this step is due, I am sure, to the showing made by my brigade. I want to say I am proud of this brigade. I hate to leave it. I came out here to the west and these western men I have, from California and Utah, gave me a royal welcome and worked with me to carry out my ideas. I know this brigade now; I know each man's failings and his strong points. I know what each can do. This step means that I must go among strangers."

Officers Express Pride.

Officers stationed here expressed pride that another high officer of this division had been given promotion, pointing out that Major General George H. Cameron was promoted to that grade while stationed here. They expressed regret the General Lyon would leave his station here, as they anticipated he would in consequence of his promotion, but said they realized it was a distinct honor to him and that they were glad of it on his account.

General Lyon was born in Petersburg, Va., October 18, 1866. He graduated from Richmond college, Richmond, Va., in 1885, and two years later was appointed to the United States military academy at West Point, N. Y., where he graduated in 1891 as No. 7 in his class. His first commission was as a second lieutenant in the Seventh cavalry, where he served from June to October, 1899, and saw service in Cuba with the Second artillery. He later was adjutant of the field artillery school at Fort Riley, Kansas, was acting chief signal officer at Governor's Island, New York, in 1902. He was district artillery engineer at Fort Barrancas, Fla., from 1903 to 1906, when he was assigned to the Twenty-sixth (mountain) battery of field artillery at Camp Kletchley, Mindanao, Philippine islands. With this he participated in an expedition against the hostile Moro tribesmen at Lake Lanao in 1907.

Served in Canal Zone.

General Lyon served in the Panama canal zone, at Corozal, as battalion commander in the Fourth field artillery first as major and later as lieutenant colonel. He won his colonelcy in May, 1917, and was assigned to command the Thirtieth field artillery, heavy, then stationed at El Paso. In August, 1917, he was promoted to be a brigadier general, national army, and assigned to command the Sixty-fifth artillery brigade, stationed at Camp Kearny, Cal.

"It Shall Be Done" is the motto General Lyon chose for his brigade and might well be used as an indication of the character of the man. Whatever the task to which he set himself, somehow, sometime it was carried through, and usually sooner than later. A man of strictest discipline, he yet was far from being a martinet, and endeared officers and men alike to him by his daring, his great zest for every detail of army service, and what enlisted men serving under him called his "unlimited pep."
